BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Dwarf fruit trees, selection and care
Leaflet No. 407

Dwarf fruit trees require less growing space than standard trees, and they produce fruit of similar size and quality. Dwarfs begin to bear earlier than standard trees. This revised leaflet tells how to select dwarf fruit trees from a nursery, and how to take care of them.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Strawberry diseases. (F 2140) 26 p. 40¢.

Strawberries are attacked by many diseases which vary widely in their destructiveness and distribution. This revised bulletin describes the type of diseases that attack the whole strawberry plant and those that attack various parts of the plant. It gives symptoms of the diseases, and information on prevention and control.

Using phenoxy herbicides effectively. (F 2183) 25 p. 35¢.

Phenoxy herbicides — chiefly 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T, silvex, MCPA, and 2,4-DB—are widely used for controlling weeds in many crops, on grazing lands, on lawns, and for killing unwanted brush and trees.

This revised bulletin describes how plants react to the herbicides, how to apply, how to test output of the sprayer, and how to clean spray equipment. A table lists the susceptibility of more than 300 common weeds to control by the five phenoxy herbicides.
